Sexual Assault Investigations for Law Enforcement: A Trauma-Informed Approach

ABOUT THE COURSE: This full day training focuses on practical application of research for law enforcement on reducing secondary trauma, which is often experienced by crime victims and survivors of sexual assault. The course introduces learners to trauma-informed approaches, creating awareness of the importance and nuances of trauma-informed responsive policing to build cooperation with crime victims — including in marginalized communities. This course integrates adult learning principles, models engagement strategies with participatory leadership values and strategies to build upon the expertise of the professional-level law enforcement officer.
